

Directions for 1.28.2016

You will NOT be getting into groups or going outside today, as the assignment today will take longer than I originally thought. (I'll provide outside work time on Monday for you.) Here are directions for today, clearly put out. I expect you to follow these through.

1) Visit deweysenglish.weebly.com, English I. Go to today's agenda (January 27th/28th) and click on the second attachment on my website. This is a list of specific words that you are to complete today.

- If you were absent on Tuesday, you will either work by yourself (and will likely get things done quicker, even if you have more words to complete), or you can pair up with others, if multiple students were absent Tuesday and here today.
- If someone in your group is absent today, then you are responsible, as a group, for completing their words too.

2) To “complete” words, open the third attachment on my website, open it in Adobe Reader (very important), and do the following:

1. Open a new Google Doc
2. Type each word you are responsible for on the Google Doc
3. Copy and paste the definition from the Adobe Reader document you just opened
4. Use the word in 1–2 sentences, so that the sentence shows that you understand the definition. (You can refer back to the examples I went over last class if you need help.)
5. Find a picture to go with the example using Google.
6. Save that picture to your photo app for Monday. If the “save photo” feature doesn't work, then enlarge the photo you find and take a screen shot of it.
 - By completing steps 1–6, creating a group Adobe Voice on one iPad will be significantly easier).

3) If you are done early

- Silently read (I have told the sub that if it looks like you aren't reading, then you may be asked to write a one-page summary of whatever it is you choose to read)

- Create flashcards with your words, writing the word on one side and the definition on the other (tiny flashcards are stacked next to my orange pencil box in the back. Count 20 and then take them).
 - (f you have me for LAD, then you already have a set)
 - STUDY with your flash cards, doing so on your own.
- Get caught up on English work you have not yet turned in.
