

Great analysis here!

correct citation needed.

voice speaking to me like I'd heard yesterday, Lily Melissa Owens, your jar is open." The fact has (keep verbs present tense)

that Lily had so much time to think about what to do, is a good example of the relief in the chapter. Rosaleen and Lily <sup>have</sup> has a chance to sit down, take a breath, and plan their next steps instead of running from threats. These examples are the two that exemplified a slow mood and not necessary (makes you seem weak in your ideas).

CM x 2

(needs at least another sentence of CM).

choose a better adjective.

~~made the most sense~~, but again this is my opinion. There are plenty of examples in chapter three that exemplify that calm and relieving mood Kidd presents after the story being so suspenseful.)

CS

Instead of such a broad statement, reword the TS (2nd sentence in this paper).

⊕ Structure is followed & done well!

⊕ Commentary is thoughtful and goes beyond rephrasing quotations or stating the obvious.

⊕ Well-chosen quotations that fit what it is you are discussing.

⊖ Better blending of quotations needed (use Mickey Mouse worksheet).

⊖ Keep verbs in present tense.

⊖ One additional sentence of CM is needed for your second CD.