Intro and Body

It has been proven that American like to live a fast and smooth lifestyle. The new 2016 KTM 450 SX-f fits the American lifestyle. It's fast and it's power delivery is smooth on the track and the trails. Racers/ riders are always looking for a fast bike, which the KTM is, but what makes the KTM an even better bike is that it rides smoothly and comfortably. It's plain and simple, the KTM is the best 450 machine for 2016. KTM won two out of three shootouts and beat Yamaha in a head to head battle. KTM would be my choice, it's technicians made the lightest bike, but on top of that they used the best parts and that is why the KTM 450 SX-F is the best 450 for 2016.

The KTM 450 is fast, but it's power delivery is smooth, and that is what makes it's power shine above all other 450 machines. The KTM has the highest peak horsepower, it's brother bike the Husqvarna is the only bike that has an even close horsepower, but that is only because KTM bought Husqvarna, so their make is nearly the same. Yamaha, Kawasaki, Suzuki, and Honda did not even stand a chance to the Husqvarna, so they weren't even close to the KTM in the horsepower category. For the year of 2016, "KTM's peak horsepower is 57.98" according to Motocross Action Magazine. That is nearly a horsepower more than Husqvarna and almost four more than the last place bike of Honda. It's peak horsepower is more than two over Yamaha which has the third highest peak horsepower. It's peak horsepower is just one thing that contributes to the KTM 450 being the best 450 for 2016. The power delivery of the KTM goes hand and hand with the peak horsepower of the KTM. With all the power of the KTM it's power delivery needs to be smooth, and that is exactly what it is. The riders from the TransWorld Motocross shootout said that the power delivery of the KTM was nice and smooth. Power delivery seems like a small thing, but it actually is a big thing. If the power is choppy the rider is going to have a hard time getting into their riding groove and being comfortable on their bike. KTM proved that power delivery is important and that is why KTM is the bike for you. There are two reasons of many that categorize the KTM 450 SX-F is the best 450 bike in 2016.
